Privilege Pay: Important Information about Usage & Fees

With Privilege Pay, the credit union will extend you the courtesy of paying your checks and other items, even if you do not currently have the funds in your checking account. While the credit union does not encourage you to overdraw your account, we understand that mistakes can happen. Privilege Pay can save you the embarrassment of a bounced check as well as save you money by helping you avoid merchants' costly return check fees. Privilege Pay is also available to you in the event that emergency cash needs arise (i.e. unexpected auto repair). In the event that this occurs, the credit union suggests writing a single check for the funds you need, in order to minimize the fees that you incur. There is a fee for this service; see fee schedule to the left for details.

Rights Reserved: Market USA will normally pay overdrafts within Privilege Pay limits; however, payment by Market USA is a discretionary courtesy and not a right or obligation. We may refuse to pay an overdraft for you at any time even though we may have previously paid overdrafts for you. The Privilege Pay service may be withheld by Market USA at any time without prior notice reason or cause.

How it Works: Privilege Pay allows you to overdraw your account in order to pay items presented by check, ACH, or bill pay. Everyday debit/ATM transactions are not covered. You may contact to opt into coverage for these types of purchases. You can view your Privilege Pay usage at any time by logging into Internet Banking and/or establishing e-Alerts.

Other Overdraft Options: Market USA offers alternative overdraft services such as overdraft lines of credit and automatic transfers from other accounts. Ask us for details. If you have an existing overdraft protection from your savings account and/or overdraft line of credit, we will access those funds for payment prior to utilizing Privilege Pay.

Privilege Pay Limits: This service is not available for everyone. If you are eligible for the service, it automatically be added to your checking account(s). You can view your usage and/or limits at any time by logging into Internet Banking and/or establishing e-Alerts.

Restoring a Positive Balance: You should make every effort to bring your account to a positive balance as quickly as possible. If, after 30 days, your account has not been restored to a positive balance, your Privilege Pay service will be suspended and the credit union will proceed with collection efforts.

Federally Insured by NCUA. Equal Housing Lender.
